

GIT 215 Final

The first thing that I noticed was that in Microsoft edge things appear “longer”. For example, my text area box appears longer than it does in the Chrome browser. I also noticed that the images appear more “stretched” in Microsoft Edge compared to the other browsers. Another difference is what happens when I click on the different input boxes. In Firefox, when I go to click on a box, the highlight that shows up around the box is different in shape and thickness than it is in Chrome and Microsoft Edge. I also believe that I see some slight differences in the colors between browsers.
